

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is an unethical behavior adopted by a researcher when he copies work of another researcher without permission. Whenever he/she adopts work of somebody else he/she should acknowledge the same. Further it is an obligation on the part of author to give prompt corrections of mistakes in published works.

There are varying degrees of plagiarism warranting different consequences and corrective action, listed below from most to least serious:

- Verbatim or nearly verbatim copying or translation of a full paper(s), or the verbatim or nearly verbatim copying or translation of a significant portion(s) of another paper(s).
- Disclosing unpublished data or findings without permission, even if attributed.
- Unaccredited verbatim or nearly verbatim copying or translation of individual elements of another paper(s).
- Unaccredited paraphrasing of pages or paragraphs from another paper(s).
- Credited verbatim copying or translation of a major portion of a paper without clear delineation (e.g., quotes or indents)

The institution checks the plagiarism for research work through online sources, with the help of the University of Mysore. Once when the research scholar submits the thesis it is accepted only after scrutinizing the mandatory plagiarism check certificate which is provided by the University of Mysore. The main objective is to promote the research and research publications and prevention of misconduct including plagiarism in R&D.
